DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

I am passionate about the documentary medium and specifically the power of story to bring together challenging content in a highly compelling format. The critical times we are facing as a race require us to bring forth powerful information in a digestible way to engage in conversation, debate, and ultimately informed and free choice. The future of our species as we've known it depends on our capacity to do this well. I'm dedicating my life and putting all I have into creating the content we most need now. I welcome you becoming part of this process with support required to continue this work.

LOVE IN THE TIME OF COVID

SYNOPSIS

This documentary tells the story of a man's disappearance, and the intense search to find him after he and his family are forced into a Covid-19 quarantine. His disappearance ignites a litany of questions in a search for truth in regard to the narrative surrounding the current pandemic.

Through interviews with doctors, scientists, and health professionals, we start to uncover a different side to the story of COVID-19.

AYAHUASCA & THE PATH OF THE SHAMAN

North Americans are sick. In the past we have been turning to anti-depressant drugs and a litany of other addictive behaviours for help, but as we've come to see, these substances have failed us and we are out of options. "Ayahuasca & the Path of the Shaman" is the story of how a Plant Medicine from Peru is starting to heal people that feel helpless in their struggle and have lost their faith in Western Medicine.

"Ayahuasca & the Path of the Shaman" is the story of Dave, a North American who's depression leads him into the world of Shamanism and the Peruvian Plant Medicine, Ayahuasca. We also follow Shannan as she begins her journey with Dave and this strange medicine, uncovering childhood trauma buried deep inside her sub-conscious. With the help of Dr. Gabor Mate, Dave shares this plant's healing powers with fellow North Americans.
